

In the examination to become a Meister, the "commercial" part is always the "hardest nut" to crack. Use this preparation course and increase your chances to pass.

Unfortunately, vocational training courses for chefs, restaurant and hotel specialists do not include sufficient knowledge about economics, management or taxes. Therefore, it is usually more difficult for students who want to become a Meister to pass the first part of the examination, the so-called "Dienstleistungsfachwirt", at the first attempt.

We would strongly recommend this special and compact preparation course to everybody who has not received any further training in these subjects within the last few years. Get acquainted with topics related to economy and management in time, and gain precious knowledge before actually starting your master classes.

Target groups

Future Küchenmeister, Restaurantmeister and Hotelmeister, who would like to prepare themselves for the examination more intensively.

Contents

This preparation course includes all relevant topics of the first part of the examination to become a Meister (so-called Dienstleistungsfachwirt). You will be provided with valuable advice on specialist literature to prepare for the exam in the best possible way.
